

Snagajob Privacy Policy

Last updated: January 5, 2023

The Privacy Policy describes the data protection practices of Snagajob.com, Inc. and its affiliated companies (together referred to as “Snagajob” “we,” “us,” or “our”). This Privacy Policy applies to all websites and mobile applications owned and operated by us that link to this Privacy Policy, and related online and offline services (collectively, the “Services”).

Snagajob is a provider of cloud-based software services that help connect businesses (“Employers”) looking to hire for employment positions with our network of job and shift seekers (“Seekers”). When applicable we have made distinctions in these sections between Seekers and Employers to be transparent about the different situations in which we may collect, use, or share personal information.

When we handle information about Seekers who use our Services to fill out job applications or onboarding documents/forms for specific Employers or otherwise communicate directly with Employers (“Employer Direct Engagement”), we do so on behalf of the Employers as a service provider or processor. Employers determine how to engage with Seekers through our Services and thus act as the business that determines the purposes and means of handling Seeker data in relation to Employer Direct Engagements. In those circumstances, Seekers should carefully review the privacy policies of the Employers with which they interact. Snagajob is not responsible for the privacy practices of Employers. Snagajob acts as the business and not a service provider when Seekers build profiles and use related services.

PLEASE READ THIS PRIVACY POLICY CAREFULLY TO UNDERSTAND HOW WE HANDLE YOUR INFORMATION. By using Snagajob Services, you are expressly and voluntarily accepting the terms and conditions of this Privacy Policy and our Terms of Use that allow us to process information about you.

If you are a California resident and would like to see a summary of the privacy disclosures applicable to you, please click here for our California Privacy Notice.

- Usage Data. We may collect and analyze information about how you use our Services. This information includes the dates and times you access our Services, the features you use and the pages you visit, the type(s) of browser through which you access our Services, the content you upload or post to our Services, error logs and other system activity, and the webs or applications through or from which you access our Services.
- Device Data. We collect and analyze information about the device(s) you use to access our Services. - Location Information. When you use the Services, we and our service providers may collect precise location information (in accordance with your device settings and permissions) as well as collect general location information from your computer or mobile device. "General" location information means information to identify the city and state in which your device is located based on its IP address. This information allows us to give you access to content that varies based on your general location (e.g., nearby locations or delivery status). We will ask your permission before collecting your precise GPS location information. In such instances, we may use your precise geo-location information to provide customized services, content, and other information that may be of interest to you. Please note that precise geolocation information is considered "sensitive personal information" under certain privacy laws, and we process this information in accordance with applicable legal requirements. You can disable geolocation tracking on your device. For more information, see the "Your Rights and Choices" section below.
- Information from Cookies and Similar Technologies. We and our service providers collect information through the use of "cookies" and similar technologies, such as tracking pixels, to understand how you navigate through and interact with our Services, to learn what content is popular, to enhance the Services and provide you with a more relevant and personalized experience, for authentication and advertising purposes, to save your preferences, and to collect certain usage, device and location information as described above. We may also collect this kind of information when you interact with email messages or other communications we send you. Cookies are small text files that web servers place on your device; they are designed to store basic information and to help websites and apps recognize your browser. We may use both session cookies and persistent cookies. A session cookie disappears after you close your browser. A persistent cookie remains after you close your browser and may be accessed every time you use our Services. Tracking pixels (sometimes referred to as web beacons or clear GIFs) are tiny electronic tags with a unique identifier embedded in websites, online ads, and/or email; they are designed to collect usage information like ad impressions or clicks and email open rates, measure the popularity of our Services and associated advertising, and access cookies. We and our vendors (including Adobe Analytics and Google Analytics) also use these technologies and the information collected by them for advertising and data analytics purposes. You can find more information about Adobe's advertising and analytics practices at adobe.com/privacy/experience-cloud.html. You can find more information about Google's analytics practices at google.com/policies/privacy/partners.

Some of these partners may have access to information about you that we may or may not otherwise have (for example, where you sign up directly with or otherwise engage with that provider) and may disclose some or all of this information with us. We may also receive results of background and identity verification checks.

For example, we may attempt to match your browsing activity on your mobile device with your browsing activity on your laptop. To do this our technology partners may disclose data, such as your browsing patterns, geo-location and device identifiers, and will match the information of the browser and devices that appear to be used by the same person.

3. Online and Mobile App Advertising

A. Online Advertising

We may allow third-party advertising technologies (e.g., ad networks and ad servers such as Google’s ad services, and others) on our Services that use cookies and similar technologies to deliver relevant and targeted content and advertising to you on the Services and other websites you visit and applications you use. The ads may be based on various factors such as the content of the page you are visiting, information you provide, your searches and browsing activity. These ads may be based on your current activity or your activity over time and across other websites and online services and may be tailored to your interests.

The use of cookies or other tracking technologies that may be placed on devices you use to access our Services by non-affiliated third parties is governed by the privacy policies of those third parties. If you are interested in more information about tailored browser advertising and how you can generally control cookies from being put on your devices to deliver tailored advertising, you may visit the Network Advertising Initiative’s Consumer Opt-Out link or the Digital Advertising Alliance’s Consumer Opt-Out link to opt out of receiving tailored advertising from companies that participate in those programs. To opt out of Adobe Audience Manager, visit adobe.com/privacy/opt-out.html#customeruse. To opt out of Google Analytics for display advertising, or customize Google display network ads, visit the Google Ads Settings page. To prevent Google Analytics from using your information for analytics, you may install the Google Analytics Opt-Out Browser Add-on. To generally update your cookies settings to notify you when a cookie is being set or updated or to disable cookies altogether, please consult your web browser settings. Please note that if you delete or choose not to accept cookies from us, you may miss out on certain features of our Services.

For additional ways to opt out of targeted advertising activities under applicable law, see the “Your Rights and Choices” section below.

Please note that these opt-outs apply per browser and per device, so you will have to opt out for each device—and each browser on each device—through which you access our Services. In addition, the opt-outs do not apply to advertisements in mobile applications. See the “Mobile App Advertising” section below to learn how to opt out of mobile app advertising.

B. Mobile App Advertising

We may use third-party service providers to deliver ads on other mobile apps or for mobile app analytics based on your interactions on our platform. Each operating system (iOS for Apple phones, Android for Android devices, and Windows for Microsoft devices) provides its own instructions on how to prevent the use of advertising identifiers for tailored in-application advertisements. Because we do not control how the applicable platform operator allows you to control receiving personalized in-application advertisements, you should review the support materials and/or the device settings for the respective operating systems for information on opting out of this use of your advertising identifiers.

C. Notice Concerning Do Not Track

Do Not Track (“DNT”) is a privacy preference that is available in certain web browsers. We are committed to providing you with meaningful choices about the information collected on our website for third party purposes, which is why we describe a variety of opt-out mechanisms above. However, we do not currently recognize or respond to browser-initiated DNT signals. Learn more about Do Not Track. Please note that Do Not Track is a different privacy mechanism than the user “preference signal” referenced in the “Your Rights and Choices” section below, which is a browser-based control that indicates whether you would like to opt out of processing of your information for certain purposes, such as the “sale” of your information or the disclosure of your information for targeted advertising purposes, under applicable laws.

4. How We Disclose Information We Collect

We and our service providers disclose the information we collect from and about you for the following business and operational purposes:

For example, if you post a job opportunity, we may disclose the information with relevant Seekers. - For Legal Reasons or the Protection of Us and Others. We will disclose the information we collect about you if required by law or legal process or if we believe in good faith that disclosure is reasonably necessary to: (i) enforce our Terms of Use, this Privacy Policy, or other contracts with you, including investigation of potential violations thereof; (ii) respond to claims that any content violates the rights of third parties; and/or (iii) protect the rights, property or personal safety of Snagajob, users of our Services, and/or others. This includes exchanging information with other companies and organizations for fraud protection, spam/malware prevention, and similar purposes.
- Business Transfers. In the event of sale (of some or all of our assets), transfer, merger, reorganization, dissolution, or similar event involving our business (including in contemplation of such transactions), your information may be among the transferred business assets. If such transfer is subject to any mandatory restrictions under applicable laws, we will comply with those restrictions.
- Your Consent. If you consent to our disclosure of your information, including through account settings, we will disclose your information consistent with your consent and account settings. For instance, you may be able to choose whether your profile information is visible to Employers on Snagajob’s network or the public at large. Be aware that any information included in your public profile may be read, collected, and used by others who access it.

5. Aggregate/De-Identified Information

We may aggregate and/or de-identify information collected through the Services so that such information can no longer be linked to you or your device (“Aggregate/De-Identified Information”). We may use Aggregate/De-Identified Information for any purpose, including without limitation for research and marketing purposes, and may also share such data with any third parties, including advertisers, promotional partners, and sponsors, in our discretion.
